May 2022

President's Message:

President's Letter

It's a sure sign of spring when you start to see antique and classic cars on the road. For me spring officially arrives when the maple syrup evaporator is put away and I can pull out my collection of what I call rolling restorations. My collection is organized on the LIFO basis, Last In First Out. That that makes the Model A Coupe first out. Actually, it gets fired up anytime there is a warm winter day, and this definitely helps to keep my spirits alive. Next out is the Sprite. It has already had its 2022 maiden voyage and seems to have survived a mouse free winter possibly because of some secret herbal formula purchased from a retired alchemist.

Speaking of keeping spirits up, we are fortunate that despite the refusal of this COVID thing to go away, we can still take a ride in the relatively safe great outdoors. Looking at the AHC NE calendar there are plenty of tours planned. If you happen to live in a Wing where there are not a lot of formal club activities, it is very easy to organize one yourself. We have some members who live in areas where there are not a lot of a Healeys. No surprise however that whenever you drive you will get "thumbs up" and a big smile to add to the enjoyment of even a ride around the block. Wherever you go there is always someone who will approach you and say, "my brother had one just like that only it was a Triumph." Get out, take a ride, and share your Healey with an adoring public.

To date we have collected just under $450 for the Club Charity. This year we have chosen to recognize the Surgical Intensive Care Unit, Ellison 4, Massachusetts General Hospital where our fellow member Sharon Brackett and her team have worked grueling hours and continue to make huge personal sacrifice to deliver unparalleled medical care during these very challenging times. Please make a contribution of any size. I chose to donate the cost of a meal that Jane and I would have had at a good restaurant had we dared venture out. Perhaps you would consider doing the same. We hope to see Sharon on the road this summer to thank her personally. Checks, payable to ACHNE, can be sent to: Linda Hakala, 17

Bittersweet Lane, Hancock, NH 03449. Please note "Club Charity."
Finally, please check out the club's newly designed, user friendly, website for the latest information about the club and its events and activities
www.ahca-newengland.org

While you are there, view the recordings of our hugely popular Tech Calls hosted by Peter Sturtevant.

Hope to see you on the road this summer.

Editor's Notes:

Thanks to all of you alert readers of Healey Exhaust Notes for noticing my photo in the April issue and commenting on how much I look like Clint Eastwood except I have better hair... I have asked club President, Bruce Ketchen for a photo to post with his monthly "President's Letter" several times. Finally, I received the above photo of Bruce to use. He said he shuns publicity so I can only run this picture once. It was an offer I couldn't refuse!

Be sure to check the web site often for the most up to date Event's Calander. It changes often. You won't want to miss some of the terrific events coming up soon. Many thanks to Pete Sturtevant for the excellent job he does with our club's wed site.

This issue of Exhaust Notes will continue an article by club members Roy and Jane Crane that details his restoration work on their BN1. There has been a long gap between segments of Roy's article, but we will pick up the 3rd segment in this issue. You may have already noticed segments 1 & 2 have been published in Healey Marque so hopefully you have read both segments there.

When you see Bruce, he won't mind if you call him by his nickname: "Vito C."

May 26 Thursday - Wings Over The Hudson

If you are a fan of history and like panoramic views while enjoying a tasty meal, then reserve May 26 on your calendar and plan to join Wing 1 members for a day along the Hudson River.

Three activities are planned, all conveniently within three miles of each other along Route 9.

Locust Grove: We'll start at Locust Grove National Historic Landmark estate Poughkeepsie, New York. The 200-acre park-like estate includes homes, a carriage house, icehouse, trails, wonderful flower, and vegetable gardens, and it overlooks the Hudson River from a bluff.

The Italianate architecture home belonged to Samuel F. B. Morse, the inventor of the telegraph and Morris Code fame. There is a $15 charge for the tour.

Shadows on the Hudson: Lunch will be a Shadows on the Hudson. An award-winning waterfront restaurant perched on a cliff 40 feet above the Hudson River and just 50 feet from its eastern bank. It has truly grand views of the Mid-Hudson Bridge and Walkway Over the Hudson to the north. The extensive menu will find something for everyone's tastes.

Walkway over the Hudson: Last, is The Walkway over the Hudson State Historic Park is a steel cantilever former railroad bridge spanning the Hudson River between Poughkeepsie on the east bank and Highland on the west bank. The walkway is 237 feet above the Hudson and provides majestic views up and down the Hudson.

Locust Grove is on Route 9 in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. We should plan to meet at the visitors center at 10:00 AM. If you are interested in joining us, contact Ted Cryer by May 23rd at email: ccryer@hvc.rr.com

British Motorcars in Bristol 2022

The British Motorcars of New England is happy to announce that following the success of the 2021 show, the British Motorcars in Bristol 2022 will be held on June 10th and 11th. The event will return to the town of Bristol Rhode Island and Colt State Park. We could not have picked a more scenic venue. Colt State Park sits on the shoreline of Narragansett Bay and offers beautiful views of the bay from our show field.

Friday's schedule will include a cruise to the Rhode Island Veterans Home in Bristol and the Friday evening block party sponsored by our partners in the show, Explore Bristol. Saturday will be show day with up to 40 classes of British cars. This year's plans include more food trucks and vendors, many of them with the emphasis on the British car hobby. There will also be a return of the popular cruise around coastal Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

British Motorcars in Bristol 2021 raised $2,500 for the Rhode Island Alzheimer's Association and $1,300 for the local charities supported by Explore Bristol. With the continued support of members and friends we hope to exceed that amount with our 2022 show.

Mark your calendars and plan to attend this fun for everyone British car event. For updates, check our website at BMCNE.org. Register at: www.britishmotorcarsinbristol.com

BN1 Interior Concours Conformance – Part 1

Before going on to the evaluation of the interior, I want to report on what has been accomplished to correct items discussed in the first article, on the front end. I was not sure that I was going to correct the rivets in the headlight trims. Lynn Martin was kind enough to send me nickel plated rivets, so I made the correction. The first photo shows both the rivet that was chrome plated, on the top ring and the nickel-plated rivet, in the lower ring. The difference is subtle but the correct nickel plating has a warmer color.

The original rivets became chrome plated when the trim rings were plated. They were brass, semi-tubular, rivets that had to be drilled out. The replacement nickel plated rivets are split rivets and are difficult to clinch tightly, to hold the small bracket in place that secures the trim rings to the headlight assembly. So, CA glue was used to assure the bracket and rivet remain secure and tight.

Next the grey piping below the headlights and marker lights has been replaced with the correct black material. I like the look better than the grey.

My replacement mirror did not have the word “eversure” stamped on the mounting clamps and the clamp screw was not the correct “cheese head” screw.

Here both the correct and incorrect mirrors are shown side by side. Kent Lambert, Healey Parts, Hood River, OR was able to supply the correct mirror.

Lambert, Healey Parts, Hood River, OR was able to supply the correct mirror.

The instruments were restored by Nisonger Instruments, Mamaroneck, NY.

Their evaluation was my instruments faces were reasonably good, but if they were to be Concours level they would need to have the silk screening redone. The lead time for silk screening, at that time, was nine months. We were early enough into the project that we waited for the new silk screening. I am impressed with the quality of the new gage faces.

Lynn points out a dot on his water temperature gage that is colored yellow, that is shown in the next photo, below the 160 deg mark. I am not about to take my gage apart to add the yellow dot.

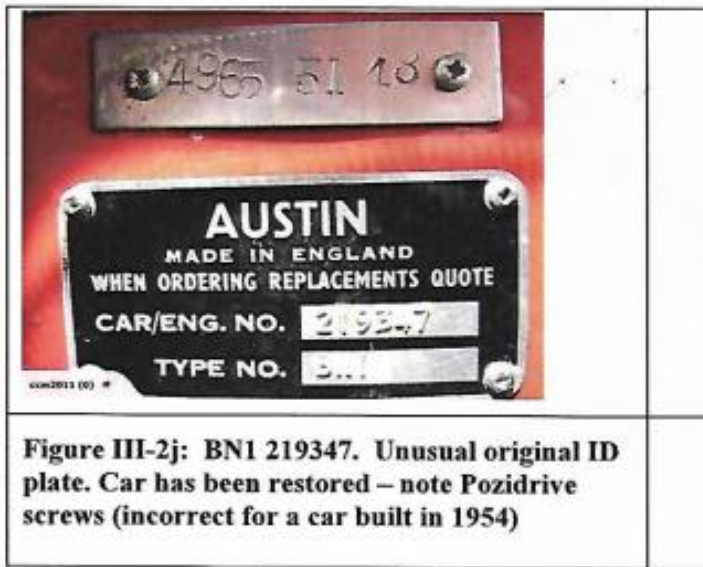

The VIN plate on my car is mounted on the left side kick plate. The black background was worn and chipped, so I had it repainted. The VIN numbers are embossed, to produce male numerals that would not be easy to duplicate.

Lynn provided me with this photo of the VIN plate in his car, expressing concern I provided Lynn and Jim this photo from the AHCA Concourse guidelines book.

Not only is this VIN Plate identical to mine, but the number precedes my car (219369) by 22 cars. I think this lends credence to my plate being authentic, but unusual.

The steering wheel on my car was broken.

As you can see, someone actually tried to use a wood screw to mend the break in the wheel rim. This photo shows how we ground the plastic away, so we could weld the spokes back onto the rim.

We then made a fixture in which we could use the plastic, at the one good spoke intersection, as a pattern to create a mold.

We poured West System G-Flex epoxy, mixed with micro-balloon filler and black pigment, into the mold. The result was then sanded to match the contours.

This is the finished result, after having been painted black, with a single stage urethane automotive paint. The fitting in the hub was to support the wheel during painting. It is satisfying to have saved the original wheel.

The trafficator switch was not functioning. Someone had wired the turn signals into a three-way toggle switch, mounted in a hole drilled in the instrument panel. We had to weld plug around a dozen extra holes that had been added to the instrument panel, over the years. There were eBay ads for repaired trafficator switches in the neighborhood of $1,100 each. Research led me to Curtis "Curt" Arndt, in Carlsbad, CA, who repairs and restores Austin Healey trafficator switches. Curtis had to replace many missing and broken parts, but he produced a beautiful, working switch assembly, for a little more than half the eBay price.

It is certainly a pleasure having everything back in appearance and function the way it should be.

The upholstery, top, tonneau cover, and side curtains were all made by Heritage Upholstery, in Palm Springs, CA. My first thought, for colors, were to paint the car the same red as my MGTD so they match side by side, with a biscuit interior and top like my MGTD. I also liked the Stayfast cloth top appearance more than the vinyl used on Healeys. Then the Heritage Certificate arrived. The car was originally red, with a red interior and red top. The red body color was already my first choice, so that was easy. Heritage would produce a biscuit interior and Stayfast top, but I chose to go with the original red interior and top. I think the red interior and top look fantastic, even though they were not my first inclination. Having committed to the idea of being faithful to the original configuration of the car, I chose the original "Karvel" carpet material and the vinyl top and tonneau material. I sent the seats, transmission tunnel and battery box cover to Heritage, paying them to install the upholstery for these items, at the factory. I installed all the rest of the upholstery, supplied in kit form, including most of the hardware necessary for the installation. I have to say that I am pleased with the quality of the materials, fasteners and fit as supplied in the kit. The red of the upholstery compliments the different red of the body color very nicely. Jim wanted to see the seat base and bottoms as shown in these next photos.

The seat bases are painted brown, as are the inside of the instrument panel, transmission tunnel, glove shelf and other metal parts, as I believe they were from the factory.

Lynn points out that the burlap material is not correct as the foam cushion was exposed as it came from the factory. Also, the factory used tacks, not staples, to secure the leather to the base. Here is a photo of Lynn's seat.

I choose to leave my seats as is, for fear of messing up the nice tight fit of the leather as Heritage supplied it.

There is enough detail in the upholstery and interior of the car that I am going to split it into two articles.
